Excision/Alteration details:

The back cover of the slick contained a three quarter page image of a woman whose left breast was visible. Shards of glass were protruding from the breast. The back cover also featured a man being strangled. The hands around his neck were covered in blood. These two images, given their juxtaposition on the slick combined to associate violent activity with sexual images. Such images, if publicly displayed were likely to cause offence to reasonable members of the public.
